

Synovus Inspire Program Terms

Below are the terms and conditions of the Synovus Inspire Relationship Program (the “Relationship Program”), which provides the fee refunds, discounts, and other benefits described below. Additional Synovus Relationship Programs include Synovus Plus and Private Wealth. See each Relationship Program’s respective Program Terms for applicable terms and conditions.

Relationship Analysis

We will evaluate your checking, savings, money market, IRA, CD, and investment accounts on file with Synovus¹ which you are the primary or secondary owner or the beneficial owner or control person in the case of business or commercial accounts (collectively the “Accounts”) as of the last business day of each month (the “Evaluation Date”). Applicable Relationship Program benefits will be applied to your Accounts no later than the 5th business day each month (the “Effective Date) and will be reflected on the next statement of account for that Account. Each time you open a new Account, it may take up to one full statement cycle before Relationship Program benefits are made available to your Account.

All your Accounts will be considered during Relationship Program evaluation. Primary and secondary Account owners will be evaluated individually, but either may qualify applicable Accounts to receive Relationship Program benefits. Because either Account owner may qualify the Account to receive Relationship Program benefits, aggregate information about one owner’s relationship may be shared with the other joint account owner as a result.

Qualification and Anchor Account

To qualify to receive Relationship Program benefits you must maintain an Inspire Checking account. This account will be your “Anchor Account”. For newly opened accounts, it may take up to two business days for this to reflect in our systems.

Monthly Fee

There is a monthly service fee of $50 for the Anchor Account which you authorize us to debit from the Anchor Account at the end of each statement cycle. The monthly service fee for the Anchor Account will be waived if you maintain one of the following:

1. $100,000 minimum ending balance in combination of your personal checking, savings, money market, IRA, CD or investment accounts¹ as of the Evaluation Date (your “Relationship Balance”) during your statement cycle.
2. $1,000,000 minimum ending balance in combination of your business or commercial checking, savings, money market, or CD accounts as of Evaluation Date (your “Business Relationship Balance”) during your statement cycle.
